

Get to know the neighborhood partners at today's meeting:

City of Cincinnati Buildings & Inspections (B&I)

James Brunner, James Bass

Buildings & Inspections enforces property maintenance and building codes and responds to housing-related complaints. They can help address problem properties, explain the inspection and violation process, and outline how enforcement and compliance can improve housing conditions.

Cincinnati Department of Community and Economic Development (DCED)

Greg Koehler, Roy Hackworth

DCED works with neighborhoods on housing, redevelopment, and community investment strategies. They can help connect Roselawn with housing programs, development incentives, and tools that support property reinvestment, affordable housing, and neighborhood stabilization.

Cincinnati Police Department

Officer Brooks

The Police Department helps address safety concerns that may be connected to housing and problem properties. They can support discussions around nuisance properties, crime prevention, and how safety strategies can work alongside housing improvements.

Cincinnati Public Services

Mark Riley

Public Services supports neighborhood conditions through services like trash collection, illegal dumping response, and street maintenance. They can help address issues that impact cleanliness and overall neighborhood conditions.

Port Authority

Yasmin Chilton

The Port Authority helps acquire, stabilize, and redevelop vacant or underutilized properties. They can support efforts to return problem or vacant properties to use and work with partners to facilitate redevelopment and long-term investment

Invest in Neighborhoods

Elizabeth Bartley

Invest in Neighborhoods provides funding, technical assistance, and partnerships that support neighborhood improvement. They can help connect Roselawn with programs for home repair, property improvement, and small-scale development that strengthens housing and stability.

Homebase

Rosa Christophel

Homebase provides financial education, housing counseling, and support for homeownership. They can help residents access resources related to budgeting, credit, and maintaining or purchasing a home.
